Park fund approval just in time

A majority of cities and special districts in Alameda County have finally approved the supervisors' proposed allocation of $4 million in state park funds — barely in time for submitting project applications to Sacramento.

By noon yesterday eleven of the 19 agencies (13 cities and six special districts) had voted "yes" to the county proposal that 85 per cent of the funds go to the cities on a per capita basis and 15 per cent go to regional projects. The local 85 per cent allocation includes five per cent for historical preservation projects.

The bond issue was approved by voters in November as Proposition Two.

Jerry Wallace, a county planner working for the parks advisory commission, told The Times he has still not heard from all the agencies and the number of approvals could be higher than 11.

He said applications for specific projects under the Proposition Two funding should be mailed by May 2 or hand carried to Sacramento by May 3 to get funding for the budgets starting July 1.

Local agencies voting for the 85-15 split included Livermore City Council, Livermore Area Recreation and Park District and Valley Community Services District.

The lone local holdout was Pleasanton City Council.

"I'm flabbergasted," said Pleasanton Mayor Bob Philcox, who argued strenuously in the Alameda Mayors' Conference meeting last month against anything less than a 90-10 split. Most cities had been holding out for the 90 or 100 per cent per capita allocation until this week.

"We had been planning to use the money for parks — several projects," he said, "but I don't know if we can get together one of those heavy applications within two days. We will have to make some kind of effort."

LARPD and Livermore will receive a 4.8 per cent slice of the per capita pie, totalling $158,246. VCSD is slated to receive $42,858 from its Alameda County per capita share and $43,650 from Contra Costa's funding. Pleasanton has been allotted $118,685 under the plan.

In addition, LARPD will receive $27,925 for its share of the regional allocation. That money will be used for street frontage entrances to Sycamore Grove Park and to improve parking facilities there.

Other LARPD/ Livermore projects approved by LARPD include: Ravenswood Mansion, $60,000, entrances, parking lot and bike paths; Mansion, $60,000, improve outside and work on carriage house; Independence Park, $30,000, entrances, parking lot and bike paths; and Recreation Center, $10,000, install sidewalks and construct storage facilities.

LARPD also plans additional funding for improvement of five neighborhood parks, including: Karl Wente Park (Kingsport - Darwin area), $10,000, tot lot, back stop, shade structure and bike paths; Proud Country, $10,000, additional playfields, tot lot, paths, back stop; Pleasure Island (Murdell Lane area), $17,000, additional turf, tot lot and back stop; Oak Knoll (near Granada High School), $10,000, irrigation, paths and landscaping; and El Padro (near Mendenhall School), $11,246, paths, complete tot lot, back stop and shade structure.

VCSD plans four tennis courts at Athan Downs in San Ramon with the $43,650 from Contra Costa County and improvements at the Dublin Sports Grounds with the Alameda County funding. The latter includes auto barriers, planting of trees and construction of a tot lot.

Braeseke on trial next week, his defense — PCP

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — The murder trial of 20-year-old Barry Braeseke is scheduled to begin here next Thursday.

The proceedings were continued for a week by mutual agreement of the two attorneys.

Braeseke is charged in the triple slaying of his parents and grandfather last Aug. 23 in the family's Betlen Drive home in Dublin.

A superior court jury earlier this month found his alleged accomplice, 16 - year - old David Barker of San Ramon, guilty on one count of first degree murder and two counts of second degree murder.

Barker is scheduled for sentencing May 26.

Defense attorney James L. Crew told The Times he will argue his client was under the influence of PCP, a brain damaging depressant, and has "certain psychological problems."

Barker testified in his trial that Braeseke came downstairs after dinner that night and shot his father, Floyd, and mother, Barbara.

Barker claimed he was forced to help kill the 80-year-old grandfather, John Braeseke.

Braeseke confessed to both police and the deputy district attorney. But the confession given sheriff's deputies was thrown out.

If convicted, Braeseke's case is ripe for appeal.

The physical evidence — including the murder weapon, a .22-caliber rifle — was seized on information gained from the first confession, the one subsequently ruled inadmissible, according to Crew.

Superior court judge Winton McKibben, while dismissing the confession, let the evidence stand.

Crew also thinks the confession given the district attorney's office should be ruled out, because it, too, was based on the first confession.

Deputy district attorney Michael Cardoza, who successfully prosecuted Barker, will lock horns with Crew.

The trial is expected to last five days.

Muni court sends murder case 'higher'

LIVERMORE — Judge John A. Lewis decided yesterday to send the case of accused murderer Norman Forgason to the Superior Court.

Thirty-nine year old Forgason allegedly beat his wife, Barbara, to death in Room No. 22 of the Crest Hotel hours after he found her in bed with Melvin "Spooney" Silvera, manager of the hotel.

The event happened Feb. 4, after the Forgasons, Silvera, and Karen Sue Seibold, 25, had been drinking at the nearby 125 Club.

Judge Lewis listened to five hours of testimony by nine witnesses, including the defendant, before deciding that the prosecution presented enough evidence to send the case to a higher court.

Defense counsel Claude E. Dixon contended the evidence showed "absolutely no malice" in that the court should "reduce the charge or weed it out completely."

Nervously wringing her hands at the witness stand, Karen Seibold said that Barbara Forgason had become tired at the 125 Club and needed a place to sleep. Seibold, who occasionally worked at the Crest Hotel, sent her there to lay down in the manager's room. Later, the hotel's manager (Silvera) arrived at his quarters and, according to testimony, asked Barbara Forgason to leave.

To no avail, Silvera layed on the bed to watch television. Norman Forgason slammed his drink down at the 125 Club, according to witnesses, upon learning where his wife had gone to rest.

Silvera said Forgason broke the door to his room down and struck him (Silvera) in the eye, and then allegedly started cursing his wife. Silvera said he hid in the closet where he heard the victim being slapped.

After the confrontation, Silvera said Forgason apologized to him and then left the hotel.

Later that night Forgason returned to the hotel, according to witnesses, where he again confronted his wife.

Testimony revealed that a second beating (of Forgason's wife) allegedly took place this time causing injury according to Silvera. When asked by Silvera if she wanted assistance, Mrs. Forgason reportedly refused.

Silvera then sent Mrs. Forgason to Room 26.

The victim's body was found there approximately 24 hours later by Karen Seibold.

Judge Lewis left bail at $10,000 and remanded Forgason to Superior Court, Department 11, on May 11 at 10:30 a.m.

Forgason offered no comment in response to questions from reporters.

Las Positas overcrossing gets a boost

PLEASANTON — Things are looking up for proponents of the Las Positas overcrossing.

Assemblyman Floyd Mori told The Times yesterday that his bill to appropriate $1.5 million in state money to help build the overcrossing received favorable action from the Assembly transportation committee yesterday. He expects the bill to be reported out of the committee and on to the ways and means committee where it will face its next test.

Mori was encouraged by comments from transportation commitee members who were impressed with the fact that city officials have set aside $519,000 for Pleasanton's share of the cost in the project. The Assembly members also felt that the state owes the city the overpass because it was promised back in 1964, long before recent curtailments of state freeway spending, reported Mori.

Mori said he can't make any promises or predictions for the bill's success, but he has a good feeling about it.

The overcrossing became controversial last year when some residents living near its future site voiced opposition to it. However, a city - wide poll found majority support for the structure.

Symposium on health care

Where the elderly can turn for help

Valley senior citizens can get free checkups, blood pressure readings, eye examinations and sometimes even free nurses — if they know where to turn.

Spreading the word was the purpose of a meeting organized by Ruth Peterson, senior outreach worker with the Alameda County library system, and held in the Livermore library. Yesterday's gathering focused on health care, while future meetings will revolve around transportation and other concerns shared by older Valley residents.

Representatives from Chabot College, Alameda County Office on Aging, Senior Services Center, Health Care Center and other local services told each other about what they can do for the senior citizen. Some of the information they shared:

WELFARE: Mario Solis and Roslyn Bean are two information workers from the county welfare office who have a brand - new service located at the Pleasanton library on Black Avenue (off Santa Rita Road.) Although they have no telephone number yet, they will be available to answer the public's questions on food stamps, aid to families with dependent children, Medi - Cal and other services. Applications must still be filed through the Livermore office at 1779 Barcelona Ave., Livermore.

COUNTY HEALTH CARE SERVICES AGENCY: Located at 3730 Hopyard Road, Pleasanton, the office has a number of services:

Clinics: Immunizations, $1 per person, Thursday afternoons; TB tests, $1, Monday afternoons; Chest X - rays, pregnancy testing and counseling by appointment only.

Public health nursing: Home visits, individual counseling, clinics, group discussion.

Child disability and adjustment: Diagnosis and treatment for children under age 21 with certain handicapping conditions.

Certificates: Birth and death certificates, $2 fee; international travel certificate, $1 validation fee.

HOME NURSES: Three home nursing organizations serve Valley patients, two of them offering their services free to patients qualifying for Medi-Can or Medicare.

Homemakers Upjohn, represented by Neva Turner, will be opening a local office in Livermore next

Bishop Begin rites

Mass for the late Bishop Floyd L. Begin will be said this evening, 5:30 p.m., at St. Raymond's Church in Dublin.

The 75-year old Bishop Begin, head of the Oakland Diocese, died Tuesday morning.

Another mass will be said for Bishop Begin May 4, 7:30 p.m., at St. Augustine's Catholic Church in Pleasanton.

A Pontifical Mass of Christian Burial will be held at 8 p.m. Friday, St. Francis Cathedral, Oakland, and burial will be Saturday at Holy Sepulcher Mausoleum, Hayward.

Watch em dance

"Dance Your Tootsies Off", the dance marathon held last weekend at the Veterans Hall, will be featured on Cable Connection at 8 p.m. today on cable TV Channel 10 in Pleasanton and Dublin.

Also seen tonight will be Betty Stallings of Valley Volunteer Bureau, Geri Goularte and Rick Bonning touting a Dublin High School rock concert, and an interview with a couple of members of The Company, a local theatre troupe.

There will be a rebroadcast in Livermore on Channel 12 cable TV at 8:30 a.m. Monday and next Friday.

Big barbecue Sunday

Close to 2000 guests are expected to gather at the Livermore - Pleasanton Rod and Gun Club's grounds for the 31st annual barbecue being hosted by that organization.

Sunday's day - long festivities get underway at 9 a.m. with trap, skeet, ham and bacon shooting on the club's grounds, north of Livermore on May School Road. The public is invited; tickets for the New York steak barbecued dinners are $5 for adults, $1.50 for children under 12.

Carol Jean Dancers will be on hand to entertain the guests at a 5 p.m. stage show.

Here's why Rock House was blitzed

LIVERMORE — Following last week's demolition of most of Joe Caratti's historic Rock House, concern by some city council members prompted more explanations of plans for the two buildings on the Portola Avenue site.

Property owner Anita Gandolfo (Caratti's daughter) plans to retain the arches of rock her father collected for use in a delicatessen and wine shop planned for construction in the near future.

She is leasing the cross-shaped building in the rear of the lot, the "Castle", to Martha Egensperger of Walnut Creek for development as a restaurant serving international cuisine.

Suspect sought in broom handle beating of man

LIVERMORE — A 25-year-old Diamond Drive resident sustained a ruptured kidney after being struck with a sawed-off broom handle Sunday, police report.

Ralph Franklin Goucher was treated at Kaiser Hospital in Hayward.

According to reports, Goucher had walked a woman to her house on Venutura Avenue following a party. A man inside the residence allegedly came out with a sawed-off broom handle and struck the victim in the left arm and the left side.

A suspect is being sought in the attack. Goucher reportedly suffered from internal bleeding after the incident.

10-year-old cut with butcher knife

LIVERMORE — A 38-year-old Fremont woman was booked on suspicion of assault with a deadly weapon after the woman's 10-year-old nephew was cut twice on the back of his head with a foot-long butcher knife.

David Vince Cunningham, 10, of Elizabeth Court, was treated for two 1½-inch cuts at Valley Memorial Hospital.

According to police reports, Judy Ann Jones of Fremont reportedly tried to pull the knife from the youth during a family argument. Cunningham told officers he was cut while his aunt held him by the hair.

The knife was recovered by police. Jones was booked at city jail on suspicion of assault with deadly weapon.

New camera equipment taken from Swallow Street home

LIVERMORE — A camera and three lenses valued at $1000 were taken from a Swallow Street residence early Tuesday, police repot.

Stephen James Davis reported the theft of a Mamiya brand RB67 camera and three accessory lenses.

Police said burglars lifted out the bedroom window to gain entrance. A neighbor reported seeing a vehicle at the scene and gave a description to police.

Planter box stolen from Red Baron Restaurant

LIVERMORE — A planter box containing four trees was stolen from the Red Baron Restaurant at 909 Clubhouse Drive early Tuesday.

Police stopped two men in a car at North M and Linden streets shortly after the theft and discovered a planter box protruding from the trunk. Both men were arrested on suspicion of being drunk in public.

Investigation of he burglary is continuing.

Welding equipment taken from Carmel Drive home

LIVERMORE — Acetylene welding equipment valued at $965 was stolen from a Carmel Drive home early Monday.

Police said burglars entered Richard Blain Cave's home by prying a garage door. There are no suspects.

BC radio taken from new car

LIVERMORE — Burglars broke a window to a 1977 Toyota at Ozzie Davis' Toyota at 2350 First St. recently and stole an in-dash citizens band radio.

Damage and loss were estimated to total $560. There are no suspects.

Table saw taken from open garage

LIVERMORE — A $500 table saw was taken from an open garage on Walnut Stret Tuesday afternoon, police report.

Richard James Ohlott told officers he was repairing his DeWalt brand saw and took a break for lunch, leaving the garage door open. When he returned, the saw was gone.

The description of a suspicious car seen in the neighborhood was supplied to police by a witness. There have been no arrests.

Beer bottle thrown through car window

PLEASANTON — Vandals caused $200 damage by throwing a beer bottle through the rear window of a car parked at a local shopping center Monday, police report.

Carlton Anthony Sullins of Crestline Way told police he found a beer bottle inside his car that had apparently been used to break the window. There are no suspects.

How recycling can profit Livermore

LIVERMORE — A newly approved citizens' committee will advise city council how Livermore can reach a 1980 state goal of recovering 25 per cent of the city's solid waste materials.

Council action Monday came after a review of a home collection recycling plan proposed by Lois Hill of the Recycling Center on Pacific Avenue.

Hill's proposal, calling for Livermore residents to remove inorganic fraction and recyclable papers from household garbage, was slated for referral to the new committee.

During the discussion, City Manager Bill Parness also said he was completing a report on feasibility of the city starting its own garbage collection service to replace Oakland Scavenger's local operations.

That study was prompted by a request of Councilman Glen Dahlbacka several weeks ago when he first suggested the waste disposal advisory committee.

Parness said he would report to council May 9, but noted several points were made by Oakland Scavenger that show it would not be advantageous to the city to have its own garbage service.

Councilman Dale Turner called Hill's recycling plan "a good report, which shows it can be a profit making enterprise that will return dollars to the city."

The proposal requests city subsidies for the recycling operations which Hill estimated would be in the black after 1980.

Turner suggested council budget for the seed money to start the plan.

In the first stage of the recycling plan, households would bundle newspapers, place mixed cans in brown paper bags and glass containers of mixed colors in other brown paper bags.

Oakland Scavenger would collect the recyclables at the same time as mixed waste, loading them on special carts, then unloading the recyclables at a recycling depot on their way to the dump with the rest of the garbage.

The depot would be open six days a week during regular business hours and would include a purchase program offered by Reynolds Aluminum. Equipment needed for the first stage depot would include a compacter truck, large bins for materials, a loading pit, a storage shed and a buried oil tank.

"With the establishment of the home collection program there would be no need for the present recycling center," Hill said in the report.

A second stage would add cardboard, computer cards and paper, and miscellaneous scrap metals to the list of items handled. A magnet, shredder and baler would be required for the second stage.

Hill suggested economic incentives of lower rates for the recyclables to urge citizen participation.

Some wisdom for students thinking jobs

LIVERMORE — The confusion of selecting a future job was cleared a little yesterday when seniors from Livermore's two high schools were paired up with adults in various occupations for a glimpse of the working world they will soon face.

The careers day program was sponsored by Twin Valley YMCA, Y's Men's Club and the Livermore Unified School District. This was the seventh year.

Breakfast speaker Jane Morrison, public relations director for KNBR radio station in San Francisco, told the 90 students and numerous adults "learn everything you can because you never know what is relevant."

Speaking at St. Charles Borromeo Church, Morrison quipped about learning to "cut and paste" in kindergarten, only to find that she would later be making a good salary at KNBR doing much cutting and pasting.

Job placement, pg. 13

She noted how many youngsters are confused and embarrassed when constantly asked, "What are you going to be when you grow up."

Although a person may make choices and study specific areas, she said, at some point the choice is in the hands of an interviewer. She suggested a broad education to open alternatives in case a person's first choice of careers just doesn't work out.

"Be willing to accept responsibility," she said, noting that unless a person is willing to do that with small undesireable tasks, they may not be given more important tasks to perform.

She said interns at KNBR must be able to "operate the Xerox machine or they can't become a news broadcaster."

Citing the chore of job hunting, Morrison told her audience that "You will be turned down 99 per cent of the time, but you only need one job."

She started with KNBR 25 years ago as a secretary after being an Associated Press editor in Oklahoma City.

KNBR public relations director Jane Morrison told students how to prepare for their careers.

School Superintendent Leo Croce said that during April's Public School Month, the theme was "Learning for Living."

"Each student has the opportunity to go outside the classroom walls into the community," he said, thanking the adults who "are helping educate our young people."

After breakfast the youngsters joined medical people, journalists, scientists, attornies, automotive mechanics, manufacturers, realtors, beauticians, retailers and others for a day of job observation.

A similar program for Pleasanton and Dublin youngsters is planned May 17 at Shannon Center, Dublin. Speaker will be Don Schinnick, linebacker coach for the Oakland Raiders.

VMH is emergency center

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Valley Memorial Hospital has been designated the Valley's "primary emergency facility" in the county's Emergency Medical System.

The decision was made this week by county supervisors in a unanimous vote.

County Health Care Services Director Dr. Stewart B. Gross will negotiate agreements with VMH and seven other hospitals throughout the county.

EMS designation ties the hospitals to the county's overall emergency system, including the eventual installation of the "911" emergency telephone hotline.

County supervisors also named Herrick Memorial, Alameda, Highland General, Eden, Vesper Memorial, St. Rose and Washington hospitals as primary emergency facilities in their respective zones.

Supes pay hike out, newsletter in

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — In rapid fire order, county supervisors this week:

- Denied themselves a 5 per cent pay raise.
- Upheld their decision to send voters two newsletters a year.
- And, once again, opened the debate on making their jobs full-time.

The votes, duplicates of previous meetings, changed nothing, but aired grievances among board members that have been simmering for the past month.

All three issues drew heavy criticism from the public.

They were resurrected by board chairman Charles Santana.

Piqued at last week's decision to spend $66,000 per year on the newsletters, Santana said a 5 per cent raise each year for the next decade would total $347,000, far below the cost of the newsletters.

County supervisors currently earn some $21,000 per year.

"I firmly believe that the job itself . . . is very demanding," he said. "And, certainly, if this board has the responsibility of heavy decisions, I feel that a 5 per cent increase is not asking for a hell of a lot."

His lone support came from supervisor Joseph Bort, but opened up the debate on full-time versus part-time supervisors.

Bort said he is not in favor of a large pay hike, "but a small, nominal raise to keep up with the cost of living."

The newsletter, he said, is "11 times more expensive" than the proposed pay hike.

Freshman supervisor Valerie Raymond, who campaigned on a pledge not to raise the board's pay, said the current salary is only "a couple of thousand dollars" less than that of State Legislators.t State Senators and Assembly members earn $23,232 per year, plus $35 per diem while the Legislature is in session.

"We have to say we're going to hold the line somewhere," Raymond added.

The pay raise failed on a 2-2 vote with supervisor Fred Cooper abstaining.

North county supervisor John George, who voted against the raise, warmed to the issue of full-time board members.

"We ought to become a full-time board without outside jobs," he said, "with a salary commensurate with a full-time job."

George, Bort and Cooper are attorneys. Santana is a bail bondsman. Only Raymond, whose husband works at the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory, has no outside job.

An attempt several years ago to amend the county charter to make the job full-time failed by a wide, 3-1 margin, Cooper reminded the board.

Public speakers roundly condemned the pay raise, newsletters, and the idea of full-time supervisors.

Alameda County Taxpayers Association Executive Vice President James Garrett applauded the idea of "improving communications with voters," but pointed to newspaper circulation figures and the press' ability to reach more people without spending $66,000 of county money.

And county supervisors should "not be insulated by full-time paychecks," he added.

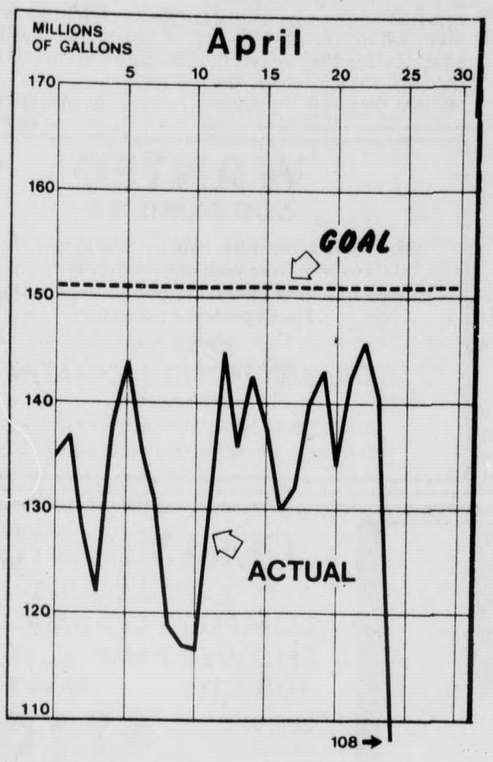
SERVING & SERVICING THE BAY AREA FOR OVER 38 YEARS

Water ration cut to 225 gallons per day



By KELLY GUST

Times Staff Writer

OAKLAND — Despite a plea for more water for central Contra Costa County residents, East Bay Municipal Utility District directors Tuesday ordered another cut in daily allocations for 1.1 million customers.

Beginning Sunday, households will be allocated 225 gallons of water a day — a reduction of 55 gallons from the current 280-gallon daily ration.

The new cuts are designed to reduce district consumption by 35 per cent from last year's levels.

During discussion, Director DeWitt Krueger, who represents the San Ramon Valley, Walnut Creek and the Lafayette area, made a strong appeal for more water for residents east of the Oakland hills.

"Their problem is one of equity and fairness," he said, pointing out the district's figures that show homes east of the hills use about twice as much water as those west of the hills.

"Basically the difference is climatic conditions," Krueger said. He said that central county residents need more water to maintain their homes and gardens in the warmer climate.

Krueger presented one resident's suggestion that daily allotments be cut to 180 gallons a day or 40 per cent of last year's use.

"I don't want the newspapers to say I'm not facing up to the water shortage," Krueger said, "But there are enough of them (EBMUD customers in the central county area) that they deserve consideration from the board."

Other directors felt differently.

Helen Burke said, "The problem with that (Krueger's sugestion) is it rewards the large user. It's important that we plan prudently for the future ... if we don't get rain next fall there's a good possibility that the Delta may dry up."

Director Albert Carrington said, "When we get to 225 gallons (per day), it's going to get pretty rough on them (central Contra Costa residents), but they (all EBMUD customers) are getting to the point that they think of water for human consumption and not for plants."

And Director Jon Reynolds said that the central county area is "one of seven wards ... homeowners have been treated by us as (one) class. I think it's a real likelihood that after this summer, no one's yards are going to be saved."

In approving the new allocation cutback, board members agreed to conduct public hearings every 60 days during the drought to monitor how well customers are getting along with the rationing. The next hearing will be sometime in late June.

The plan approved Tuesday assumes a household of three persons. An additional ration of 35 gallons a day can be granted for each additional full-time resident if the district receives a written request.

Under the new plan, multiple-unit residences of two to four units will receive 100 gallons per day per unit, plus 75 gallons a day for exterior use.

Multiple-unit residences of more than five units will receive 65 per cent of last year's allotment. However, if the 65 per cent is below 100 gallons per day per unit (and 75 gallons for exterior use), the district will allow the buildings 100 gallons a day per unit.

For industrial users, the allocation will be 80 per cent of last year's use. Commercial and public agency users will have to get along with 70 per cent of the amount they used last year.

All irrigation uses — for exterior watering commercial, industrial or public agency facilities — will be at 40 per cent of previous use.

Although the board had considered yet another ration cut, to be go into effect in October, members Tuesday agreed to wait and see if even more drastic cutbacks might be necessary.

EBMUD 'Meeting Goals'

WALNUT CREEK — East Bay Municipal Utility District (EBMUD) customers are coming through the drought with flying colors.

The district's 1.1 million customers were well within their rations for the month of March, and April figures to date show the monthly use will fall well under the 151 million gallon per day goal set by the district.

LAFCO rep quits, Dublin man in line

Alameda County Bureau

OAKLAND — Local Agency Formation Commission Chairman Harold B. Murphy resigned his appointment this week with a blast at the required conflict of interest code.

"I take unequivocal exception to this requirement," Murphy says in his letter of resignation. "In other words, I don't think my private finances are anybody's damn business."

Murphy, who represents the "public at large" on the powerful planning body, was appointed by the commission's other four governmental representatives.

LAFCO consists of two county supervisors and two mayors or city council members, plus the public representative.

Murphy's alternate on the commission, Thomas H. Schweser of Dublin, a Zone 7 candidate in last year's heated race, is sure to be considered for the post.

Murphy, the head of Murco Investment, Inc., of Fremont, land developers, has served on LAFCO for about five years. His term expires in May, 1978.

"If I felt there was a conflict of interest or anyone pointed out a potential conflict, I feel I have the integrity to realize it and abstain from the particular matter.

"From a monetary stand point, I can stay in Fremont and make more money playing Gin Rummy than from attending a meeting."

LAFCO commissioners get $50 per meeting.

The conflict of interest code, he says, is "assinine."

"The only purpose served is to eliminate qualified, knowledgeable and conscientious members of the private sector from participating in government," Murphy concludes.

Key agreement in pipeline passage

PLEASANTON — Four and one-half hours of wrangling Tuesday night finally resulted in Valley - wide agreement to terms that allow construction of the $38 million sewage disposal pipeline to proceed.

Elected representatives of Dublin, Pleasanton and Livermore, meeting as the Livermore - Amador Valley Water Management Agency (LAVWMA), gathered with the sole intention of hammering out a universally - accepted revision to the agency's charter, the joint powers agreement (JPA).

Major disagreement centered on Pleasanton's insistence for guaranteed sewage capacity in the pipeline for future industrial users. Livermore, also seeking extra industrial capacity, generally agreed with Pleasanto.

But Valley Community Services District directors, representing Dublin, decided in a major policy reversal that it too would require space in the pipeline for future commercial customers. VCSD also argued that any entity desiring extra capacity should first seek voter approval, then apply to LAVWMA for unanimous concurrence.

Pleasanton, which has stated since November it would not support any pipeline project with no provision for industrial reserve, agreed to a requirement that voters of an affected agency would have to first approve expenditures for more capacity.

The final agreement states that any unused capacity in the basic 15.62 million gallon per day pipeline up to 1 mgd could be purchased for industrial use. Pleasanton was guaranteed .5 mgd, with the remainder to be divided between the three agencies as need arises.

VCSD will have to repay its one-third share of costs for a study on incremental financing for industrial capacity undertaken earlier, due to its decision to keep the option open.

Any agency that contracts to purchase industrial capacity must pay all costs associated with the increased construction and flow, including any court costs, fines or damages arising from that usage.

The entire JPA was approved section by section, with final agreement coming around midnight. LAVWMA will meet again May 12 after each representative council has had a chance to review the draft in final form.

SENIOR SERVICE CENTER: Located in the Rec Center at Eighth and H Streets, Livermore, the center offers a variety of special and regular programs such as a recent talk on cataracts and visits by the county health van for free checkups.

Pipeline review is delayed

LIVERMORE — A scheduled special meetin of the Zone 7 Flood Control and Water Conservation District has been postponed to May 4, it was announced yesterday.

The meeting was called so Zone 7 directors could receive an in-depth review of the $38 million sewage disposal pipeline. Directors had discussed becoming involved in the project, but first wanted to research the plan.

Zone 7 will mpet May 4 at 8 p.m. in the Del Valle treatment plant board room, 601 Vallecitos Road in Livermore.

Rationing protests

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Howls of protest are mounting against San Francisco's new water rationing plan by citizens who insist they need more water.

The first wave of complaints included 1,600 letters applying for exemptions, plus innumerable telephone calls Monday, said Bob Vasconcellos, director of water conservation.

Jody Monkarsh is the only man in children's services

His challenge

Getting kids in the library

DUBLIN — The only man working in children's services in an Alameda County branch library is Jordan (Jody) Monkarsh who is part of the staff at Dublin Public Library on Village Parkway.

The official title of the 24-year-old U.C. Berkeley graduate is Children's Services Library Assistant. His major was English.

Aside from his basic duties in children's services, Monkarsh said he assisted the librarian and other staff members in other departments when necessary.

"The past six months have primarily been a training period," he said. "I had never planned to do this type of work so I have a lot to learn. I needed a job and just sort of fell into this one. Now, I'm enjoying it and believe I am making a good adjustment toward a more professional attitude."

He said he had originally planned to write adult fiction and probably would still pursue that goal someday.

After undergoing his training period and reading hundreds of children's books, he said he was beginning to feel more comfortable about his situation.

"I'm making friends with some of the children and find it a challenge to sell them on the idea of coming to the library and using its facilities."

To further generate children's interest in the library, Monkarsh visits classrooms and gives presentations.

He said he has also learned to feel at ease when reading stories to children or assisting at puppet shows.

Monkarsh said he hopes to get children more interested in reading poetry.

"There's a real poetry gap in children and young people from about age eight to 15, 16, or 17," he said. "After they leave the nursery rhyme stage, they seldom become interested in other forms of poetry."

Monkarsh said he could perform as a mime and hoped to do shows for children in the near future.

He said the library had more children's programs in the works and hoped to implement them by summer.

Last glimpse at an Indian exhibit

PLEASANTON — This weekend, the public will have a last chance to enjoy the current Ohlone Indian exhibit at the Amador - Livermore Valley Historical Society Museum at the Fairgrounds.

Special open houses have been planned for Saturday, 2 - 4 p.m., and Sunday, 1 - 4 p.m. Coffee and conversation will be featured on these special dates, promises curator Ann Lewis.

Regular museum hours are 1 - 4 p.m. Tuesday through Friday. The museum is usually closed weekends.

On display are artifacts from the Alamo area from a Dublin High School archaeological dig. Others are being loaned by Mrs. Tess Treethen of Livermore, who has a collection of baskets, tools and beads.

"The Ohlone Indians lived here for thousands of years in harmony with the land, and the artifacts that remain from their culture give us a picture of the lifestyle of these first families in the Valley," says Lewis.

Those who can't make it this weekend are invited to drop by during regular hours at any time before the exhibit closes May 6. Special tours may be arranged through the museum staff at 462 - 2766.

Dublin resident Tanya Clark volunteers much of her time to the Amador - Livermore Valley Historical Society's museum, located in Pleasanton's Fairgrounds. Currently on display at the museum is an exhibit on the Ohlone Indians, Bay Area natives until around 1797. A special open house (May 1) will introduce history buffs to the Ohlones way of life. For more information on the open house, which will be held from 1 to 4 p.m., call Ann Lewis at 462-2766.

Whole library at the punch of a button

DUBLIN — The ABC's stand for All Books Coded at the Dublin Public Library since that facility is in the process of computerizing their circulation system.

Magazines, pamphlets, records, reference books and other materials are being included in the system, according to Donna Wilson. She is employed by Computer Library Systems, Inc. Her job is to coordinate implementation for libraries utilizing this method.

"We're putting as many items as possible into the system," Wilson explained. "Films, cassettes and a few other things are a problem. We're still trying to figure out how to label them."

Basically, a bar encoded label is attached to each book or item as a means of identification. These labels are also known as ZEBRA labels, Wilson said.

Each ZEBRA label, which is striped, has its own identification number. This number can be read by the central computer located in Hayward.

Besides books and other items, ZEBRA labels are affixed to library patron registration cards.

When a patron checks out a book, the library aide passes the tip of a special type of light-pen over the labels attached to the registration card and book. Those identification numbers are then transmitted to the computer.

When the book is returned, the light-pen reads the book label and clears the patron's record.

There is a Cathode Ray Tube (CRT) involved in the new system. Information is stored in the computer via this apparatus resembling a TV screen. This stored information can be "called-down" for display on the CRT screen when answers to questions are being sought.

Wilson explained this computerized service gave library staff members more time to deal with the public. She said the system helped do away with time consuming paper work.

"For one thing, a daily printout is generated by the computer to show what books are overdue," Wilson said. "That job used to be done manually by library staff aides and took a long time."

Wilson said she had started implementing information at the Dublin Library on February 7, 1977.

"Hopefully, we will be finished by July, 1977.

Volunteer of the month

A slum produces a samaritan!

Growing up in the slums of New York City put Beatrice Langlois' life on the line. Or as she puts it, "Either you become paranoid and put up a wall to protect yourself against the hostile environment, or you ask yourself whether you're going to put up with this nonsense any longer, and DO something about it!"

She hastens to add that she was "never brutalized or mugged," but explains that her environment served as the springboard to her current outlook on life.

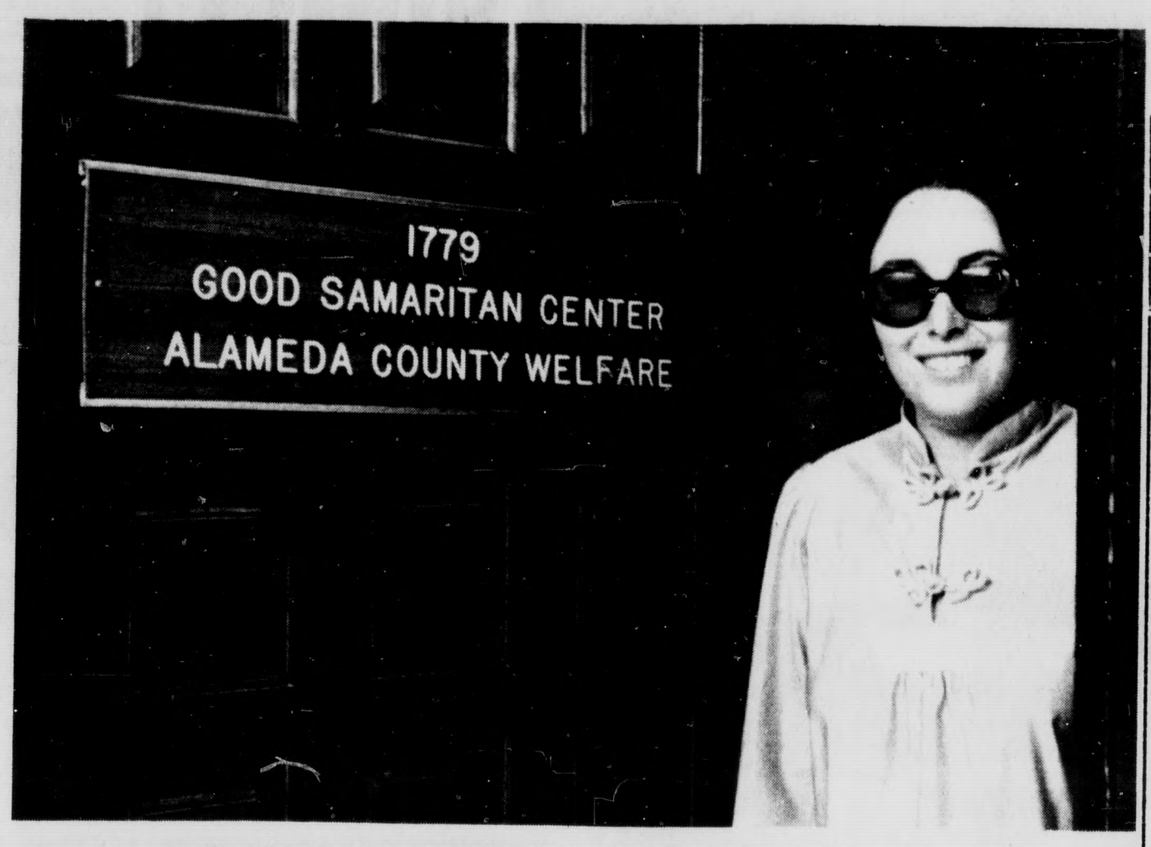
A fairly recent arrival to Livermore, Bea is the new director of the valley's Good Samaritan Center, which provides emergency relief and help to low income families.

"It's certainly a pleasure to live here, compared to New York," she laughs. "The people I see here are much easier to work with and much more receptive."

And she's worked with hundreds of people already. Nominated by Livermore's Garnet Austin Center as Volunteer of the Month, in honor of National Volunteer Week (April 24 to 30), Bea is fresh into her second week at Good Samaritan. In the short time she has been in the valley, the 28-year-old has put in hours of volunteer work at such organizations as Garnet Austin and the Citizens Initiative Project.

Her volunteer work began when she couldn't find a job, soon after her husband accepted a position with the Lawrence Livermore Laboratory. "I had a choice between working at Mervyn's or doing something I wanted to do — and the Valley Volunteer Bureau hooked me."

Bea's psychology degree and over six years of experience in mental health and social service work quickly found her positions with four organizations. Seven hours a week found the New Yorker teaching basic living skills at the Garnet Austin Center, several hours weekly planning field trips and craft projects at San Leandro's Fairmont Hospital, counseling one evening a week at Hayward's Planned Parenthood and to top it off, helping to coordinate the Citizens Initiative Project.



Beatrice Langlois is settling in to become a community activist.

In detailing her recent activities, she groans, "I'm still committed to two of these."

Throughout the months spent at these mind-boggling projects, Bea let it be known that she was interested in taking on a full-time salaried job. "Truthfully, you don't get much responsibility as a volunteer," she says. "Everybody's happy to have you, but you just don't get as involved in an organization."

Looking around her new office, Bea looks happy and ready and to take on just about any challenge. "I feel like I'll really get involved with the community in this job."

Cancer crusade begins, volunteers still needed

Volunteers will turn out in droves Friday, April 29 to "fight cancer one door at a time." Rallying under the 1977 Cancer Crusade's slogan will be thousands of walkers throughout the valley going door-to-door.

Money raised in this year's campaign, which will end May 7, will help fund the American Cancer Society's three-fold program of research into the cause and cure of cancer, education of the public to preventive measures and local service to cancer patients and their families.

In conjunction with National Cancer Week (May 2 to May 6), Pleasanton's Junior Women will offer local merchants doughnuts, coffee and tea in return for a donation to the cancer crusade.

Chairperson Martie Vassallo may be reached for further information at 846-3973.

Many more volunteers are still needed to join in the nationwide crusade, with the valley volunteers being coordinated by Karren Pentony. For more information call Karren at 846-8216.

Singing star Mel Tillis to climax Rotary benefit

LIVERMORE — When the Rotary Club brings country - western singing star Mel Tillis to Livermore Valley Stadium in Robertson Park for a May 22 concert, that organization will be completing a three year community service project.

The culmination of the $85,000 lighting project for the stadium includes a goal of $35,000 to be raised to purchase the poles and lights. light standards and wiring have already been installed in the area.

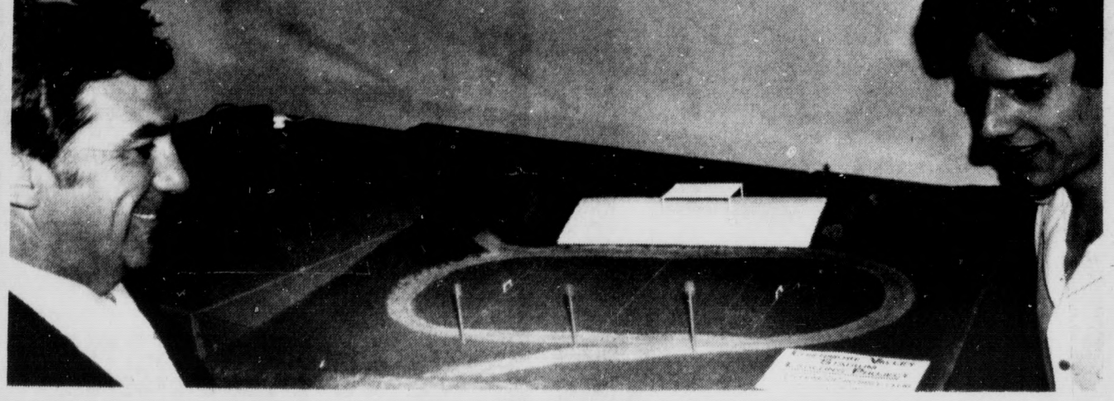
Tillis, the 1976 Country Western Entertainer of the Year, will bring his Statesiders Band, the Grammy Award winning singer Jody Miller and the Western Union instrumental group.

Local groups participating in the concert include Ron Dunivan and the Country Travelers, the Tri-Valley Express, the Orion band, and vocalist Cyndee Paulson.

General admission tickets for all ages are $6 each; a limited number of reserved seats are available for $7.50. Mail orders should be accompanied by a check made out to Livermore Rotary Club and sent to Box 694, Livermore, CA., 94550.

Tickets are available through BASS ticket outlets, the Squire, Burton's Shoe Store, Galaxy Records, Moyer's Rexall Pharmacy (Tracy) and Citizens Savings and Loan (Pleasanton).

Local performers start at noon when the audience is invited to bring a picnic lunch on the green stadium field. The Tillis and Miller portion of the show starts at 2 p.m.



Bill Payne, left, general manager of Livermore Area Recreation and Parks District, looks over a model of Robertson Park Stadium built by Mark Sampson. The model shows new light poles planned for the facility. The Livermore Rotary Club is sponsoring the Mel Tillis Concert to raise money for the lighting.

'Father Knows Best' just one more time

LOS ANGELES (AP) — "The biggest change I've noticed," said Jane Wyatt of the reunion of "Father Knows Best," "is that the kids now call us 'Bob' and 'Jane.' Always before it was 'Mr. Young' and 'Miss Wyatt.'"

But then, 17 years have past since the Anderson family shared its trials and triumphs with millions of television viewers. The three children — Billy Gray (Bud), Elinor Donahue (Betty) and Lauren Chapin (Kathy) — are adults, and they can view Robert Young and Jane Wyatt as fellow actors and not surrogate parents.

They seemed like a happy family as they rehearsed on Burbank Studios' Stage 4, preparing for the taping of the special, "The Father Knows Best Reunion," which NBC will present on Channels 3 and 4 Sunday night at 8 p.m.

The attitudes were adult — unlike most family series, "Father Knows Best" never talked down to its audience. And there was a covey of grandchildren to add youth to the reunion.

"When the idea of another 'Father Knows Best' was suggested to me, I was not enthusiastic," Bob Young admitted between rehearsals. "Getting us all back together would be a cute stunt, but so what? 'Where is the script?' I asked. 'We don't have a script; we need you to accept first,' they said. 'Oh no,' I said, and it was dropped.

"A year later they came around again. 'Where is the script?' I asked. 'We don't have a script,' they said. I still wouldn't agree, and I certainly was interested in making the show during the hiatus from 'Welby.' But as it turned out, 'Welby' wasn't renewed.

"Then one night my wife said, 'Why not make the show about the emptiness syndrome?' That made sense. She and I had both gone through it when our four daughters had gone; every couple with children faces the same experience.

"It's a valid cause for depression for which there is no known cure. It affects the woman particularly, because she has borne the child and has had the major responsibility. The father comes around at graduation to take bows."

Jane Wyatt noted two other differences in today's "Father Knows Best"; no discipline problems with the child actors; she and Bob now sleep in a double bed.

"We always had twin beds before," she noted. "Even married couples couldn't sleep in double beds when we started (1954) either in films or television. What's more, you had to keep one foot on the floor."

Young with "Marcus Welby, M.D." and Miss Wyatt with her TV and film guestings have remained in the public eye. What about their television "children"?

"I've kept fairly busy in television with 'The Odd Couple' and a lot of the shoot - 'em - up shows," said Elinor Donahue 40. "That plus taking care of my four sons, who are 20, 15, 12 and 9."

"I made a movie on spec not long ago," said Billy Gray, 39, "but for the past seven years I've been devoting myself to speedway racing, promoting it as well as racing my motorcycle five nights a week. I beat the national champion the end of last season."

"I was studying to become a psychiatrist, but I finally gave it up," said Lauren Chapin, 30. "I'm raising my little boy alone. When he was two and a half, I told him I wasn't happy, and I wanted to go back to acting. I told him it might be hard for a while, and he was old enough to understand and agree. I've had some singing engagements and I've done a few television roles."

How does it feel to pick up the same roles after a 17-year lapse?

"It's almost like the series never stopped," said Miss Donahue. "It's like a continuum, really. Of course we have changed, but I think we've changed for the better; we're better actors and better people."

If the special succeeds, could a renewed series result?

"I think that would be a mistake," said Miss Donahue. "Perhaps another special now and then. But we should keep it special, make them want to see us again."

Besides, Bob Young is opposed to a series, and Father Knows....

Television notes

Lloyd's back in the water, and Beau's joining him

LOS ANGELES (AP) A Lloyd and Beau Bridges will play father and son in "Surf,' a family drama to be filmed in Sydney, Australia, starting May 9.

Trans - Atlantic Enterprises is producing the film, fourth in a series of location movies. Others were "No Room to Run," with Richard Benjamin, Paula Prentiss and Barry Sullivan; "Barnaby and Me" with Sid Caesar and Juliet Mills; and "Puzzle," James Franciscus.

Last year the Bridges also appeared together in the Austria-made swashbuckler, "The Man Behind the Iron Mask."

Trekkies

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Attention Trekkies: the feature version of "Star Trek" is making progress.

Producers Gene Roddenberry and Jerry Isenberg have signed Terry Carr as production manager for the Paramount movie to be based on the legendary TV series. Carr's latest film was "King Kong."

Tyson's Role

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Cicely Tyson has been cast as the mother of Olympic track star Wilma Rudolph in NBC's 90- minute film, "Wilma."

Miss Tyson is famed for her performances in "The Autobiography of Miss Jane Pittman" on television and "Sounder" in films. Filming of "Wilma" will start this summer in Miss Rudolph's native Tennessee.

Pinch Hitter

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Ann - Margret joins the cast of Neil Simon's "The Cheap Detective," replacing Lily Tomlin.

Peter Falk plays the title role in the Columbia Picture, with such costars as Louise Fletcher, Madeline Kahn, Marsha Mason, Stockard Channing and Eileen Brennan. Miss Tomlin was unable to appear because her one-woman show in New York has been extended.

Busy Carol

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Carol Burnett has found something else to do during the recess from her television show.

The comedienne, now appearing at the Huntington Hartford theater in "Same Time, Next Year" with Dick Van Dyke, will join the cast of Robert Altman's "A Wedding," to be filmed in Lake Bluff, Ill.

The cast also includes Geraldine Chaplin, Lillian Gish, Dina Merrill, Peggy Ann Garner, John Considine and Nina Van Pallandt. Miss Burnett will portray the mother of the bride.

Historic arches safe

Gandolfo's attorney Keith Frazier told council there was "no intentional deception" following a presentation to council several weeks ago when the council was told the historic building would be preserved.

The building is believed a hangout for bandit Joaquin Murrieta a century ago, and also a stage top.

Architect Randy Schlentz told council the building had been condemned by the Public Health Department as unfit for public use and noted the building wasn't structurally sound.

"There was no way to retain the wooden parts," he said. "There was no intent to obliterate a historic monument."

Community Development Director Manny Gorland confirmed that a 1975 action of the county supervisors required only the arches to be preserved when a variance was approved for the proposed uses.

Janet Newton, chairwoman of the Livermore Heritage Guild, told council Gandolfo approached her group two years ago for advice in saving the historic building.

"Mr. Caratti is a part of Livermore's history," said Newton. "I'm glad the variance was obtained or the arches would have been required to be destroyed."

Architect Skip House of Walnut Creek showed council a large model of the Martha's Vineyard restaurant proposed for a use of the Castle. Removing the roof and main floor walls, he showed the double level of dining accomodations.

Some of the arches in that building were shown preserved, along with attractive landscaping and brickwork that retain the old time flavor.

Mayor Helen Tirsell asked Frazier if his clients would consider annexing to the city, noting they would be better protected with nearby city police and fire services as well as the sewer connection already approved.

"We would certainly consider it," said Frazier.

"Livermore citizens will be using it," said Tirsell, "and it would be advantageous for us both."

Photographer Dieter Plage used a special camera to film "Tiger, Tiger," an hour-long special on the life and habits of the Begal tiger airing Thursday night at 8 p.m. on Channels 5 and 10.

Special Lens Films Tiger's Mystery Life

"Tiger,Tiger," a unique look at the life, history and habits of the Bengal tiger, will be presented as a one-hour special narrated by Richard Widmark, Thursday night at 8 p.m. on Channels 5 and 10.

The special, filmed in the forests of India and Nepal, where Bengal tigers can be found, traces the history of these magnificent cats. Naturalists are making every effort to protect the remaining tigers, now an endangered species, and to increase their numbers.

One of these naturalists, Arjan Singh, is a man who believes that wildlife can be saved for future generations. Singh runs an experimental nature preserve in India, Tiger Haven, where he tries to teach cubs, born in captivity, the habits and instincts they need to survive in the wilderness.

Since tigers are nocturnal hunters, it has always been difficult, if not impossible, to film a tiger on the prowl. But cinematographer Dieter Plage, well-known for his work on "Gorilla," "We Live With Elephants," and "Balloon Safari," has succeeded in filming tigers on the hunt. Using an "image intensifier," a device developed by the British Army for use in wartime, Plage was able to adapt his camera for nighttime filming.

A's swap Torrez for Ellis, Perez

NEW YORK — The New York Yankees obtained veteran pitcher Mike Torrez from the Oakland A's in exchange for pitcher Dock Ellis, infielder Marty Perez and minor league outfielder Larry Murray in an American League trade Wednesday.

"Torrez is a good pitcher. I know he'll help us a lot," said New York Manager Billy Martin before the Yankees faced the Orioles in Baltimore. "I guess they (Ellis and Perez) both went because they're unsigned.

Neither Ellis, a right-hander obtained from the Pittsburgh Pirates, nor Perez, collected from the San Francisco Giants, had signed his contract for the current season.

"I hate to leave, but I was far apart in contract negotiations with the Yankees," said Perez. Ellis' only reaction was, "I'll have to call a meeting to elect a new player rep," a job he held.

Oakland A's owner Charles O. Finley called the trade "one of the better deals I've made in baseball. We need help at second base and Perez has the experience. And this Murray is one heck of a prospect. We like speed, you know, and he stole 59 bases in 72 attempts last year at West Haven" of the Eastern League. We're going to put him on the big league club right now and give him a look."

Torrez was a 20-game winner before going to Oakland in the deal for Reggie Jackson and Ken Holtzman. Now he joins Jackson and Holtzman on the Yankees, bringing a 3-1 record from the A's. Ellis was obtained from Pittsburgh in the trade that made Doc Medich a Pirate. Now Ellis will join Medich on the A's.

"Dock did a tremendous job for me, not only as a pitcher, but as a person," said Martin. "He was great in the clubhouse; like Oscar Gamble, he was a good agitator, and they were good with their teammates."

Ellis, the controversial righthander, was 1-1 this season with a 1.83 earned run average for New York, while Perez batted .500 in only four at-bats with the Yankees.

"I really can't tell, but I think the fact I was unsigned had a lot to do with the trade from a businessman's standpoint," said Perez. "If they waited til after June 15th, they wouldn't get a thing for me."

Murray appeared in eight games with the Yankees last year and was used primarily as a base runner and defensive replacement. Torrez will join the Yankees in New York on Thursday and probably will pitch Friday against Seattle, a Yankees spokesman said. He said Ellis and Perez would join Oakland in Boston on Friday.

McRae stars for Glads

SAN JOSE — Mike McRae, one-man track team.

It sounds like an accurate way to describe the Chabot College do-it-all track athlete, who qualified in three events, highlighting his teams' sending of 10 athletes to the Golden Gate Conference track finals on Friday at San Jose City College after their qualifying there yesterday afternoon.

But, of course, it was not so, even through McRae did win the top-seed in the long jump with a 23-10½ leap while also placing high in other events.

He finished second in the number-two heat of the 100-meters with a 10.5, while taking a wind-aided third place in the 200-meter heat with a 21.5 shove by a 5.1 mile per hour wind, well over the 4.6 legal limit.

Not to be outdone, the Smith brothers, Tom and Mike, took number-two and three-seed spots in the 1,500 meters.

Mike outdid Tom, though, as he clocked a 4:02.5 in the first heat, behind Diablo Valley's Matt Dowling and San Mateo's running machine, Mitch Kingery. Tom, through did for first place in the second heat with San Mateo's Kurt Ditus.

Only the ability of DeAnza's Mike McQueenay to hold off a late charge by DVC's Ron Crimer pfeventhe finals from being a CSM-DVC-Chabot race.

Greg Veatch turned in a 14.3 in the 110-meter high hurdles, second behind San Jose's Scott Monroy who set a new mark of 14.0.

Richard Judy finished second ih his heat of the 400-meters in 49.2 giving him the number-sixth spot in the finals,, while David Emery came in third in the 800-meter race in 1:57.3.

Don Kinman was the lone Chabot finalist in his heat of the high jump, while teammate Bob Peterson joined him in the finals, both clearing the 6-4 starting height and nothing els.

Thurliss Gibbs set a new mark in that event by clearing 6-10½. Joe DeReglo through the discus 145-3 for eighth place while Ken Grace cleared 14 feet in the pole vault for Chabot. Mark Preston and Robert Juntz both qualified in the javelin finals with respective fourth and ninth place tosses of 185-5 and 181-2.

Lohmann makes tourney

PEBBLE BEACH — Jim Lohmann of Pleasanton is the latest entry in a highly-rated field of some 200 players who will compete in the California State Open Tennis Championships here May 2 through 8.

All of the entries — most of them champions in their own areas — will be swinging for a portion of $20,000 prize money provided by Crocker Bank, sponsor of the tournament. Proceeds from ticket sales will benefit Monterey Peninsula Jaycees' charities through the Pebble Beach Foundation.

The men's singles division also will be competing for an extra $1,000 prize money from the the honorary tournament chairman, Merv Griffin, who funded the award in honour of his father, Marv. Sr. who won the event in 1918, and uncle Clarence, winners in 1922.

Qualifying round will be played Monday and Tuesday, May 2 and 3. The first two rounds of tournament action are conducted Wednesday and Thursday, May 4 and 5. Admission is free during these four days.

Men's singles champion Dick Bohrnstedt of Redlands will defend his title, as will women's singles winner Mareen "Peanut", Louie, a San Francisco high school girl.

The California State Open has had more winners go on to Forest Hills and Wimbledon titles than any other state tournament, including Billie Jean King, Helen Wills Moody, Helen Jacobs, Alice Marble, Arthur Ashe, Jack Kramer, Don Budge, Ellsworth Vines and others.

Chabot beaten

HAYWARD — The University of California's softball team showed its power in taking a 10-2 decision over Chabot in a contest play at Patrick Golmer Field here yesterday.

Diane Bengard went the distance for the losers and belted two hits. Greta Harper added two hits in four attempts.

The Gladiators, now 3-6, meet Foothill College next Thursday in Los Altos Hills.

Charlie's Angels have a rival

on Sports

Oh No!! The word has leaked out.

Farrah Fawcett Majors and her Charlie Angels' cohorts, Kate Jackson and Jaclyn Smith are all in big trouble.

The TV trio has some stiff competition from an attractive bunch of radio buffs who work at radio station KNBR in San Francisco.

The KNBR gang, or better known to thousands of listeners as Cleary's Angels, hardly makes a bid against crime like it's television counterparts. This awesome group battles the clock and the elements of the game of basketball instead.

Hardly resembling the Golden State Warriors or even a downtown pickup squad, Cleary's bunch fights for identity at every opening tip-off. Cleary's Angels are truly indeed a basketball team. Sometimes it's hard to tell, but somehow the NIKE shoes and colorful uniforms supplied by supportive listeners give the stumbling group away.

Mike Cleary

Once the ball is tossed in the air, tipped and groped by a mass of flinging out - of - control hands, the mask comes off and the race against time is on. Completing 32 minutes of non-stop hustle always signals triumph for Cleary's troops.

"We're really not very good," Mike Cleary, the team's exalted president, owner and general manager, revealed quietly while watching the mockery the court four minutes into a bizarre contest between Cleary's Angels and Rowan Rowdies — of Children's Hospital — at Monte Vista High last week.

The Angels had built a sturdy 1-0 lead, with nearly five minutes gone in the game, and Cleary roared with laughter. "I just can't believe this," the popular announcer enthused. "We're rolling now."

By the game's end, the KNBR crew had tossed in 22 more points and was locked in a tie with their Children Hospital foes. Overtime? No way! Neither team had the strength, endurance or motivation to look at the ball or basket. Thirty-two minutes seemed like 32 years.

A tie was closer to winning than anything Cleary's bunch had discovered in two previous trips to the court. Another minute may have collasped the franchise for good.

"We're defeated totally," joked Cleary, who recently moved to Alamo. "We have gone without victory."

In the teams second contest of the year, a mind - boggling battle from the outset, Cleary's Angel's dropped a cliff-hanger 40-8 decision to a group from Lafayette - Moraga while occasionally showing the teamwork of 12 players on the floor at one time.

"I got a call from a lady the next day complaining that we had too many people out there," explained Cleary. "I tried to explain that we needed all the help we could get," And then some.

But the good - natured radio jock tips his hat to all those involved. Winning or losing isn't important. Raising big dollars for charitable organizations is what counts when Cleary leads his band of Angels into action.

"I think the girls deserve most of the credit only because they don't have to do it," he said. "I think sometimes (Frank) Dell, Carter (B. Smith) and myself feel a responsibility to get involved, but the girls are doing it out of their hearts and I think that's great.

"I have to be completely honest," he continued, "It's been an uncomfortable journey for most of these girls for two reasons. No. 1, no one has really asked them to do anything outside of their normal duties. So it was clumsy getting them together and involved in it. No. 2, no one wants to make a fool of themselves and I think that's the way they felt going in. We have played awfully good teams and got humiliated."

The team could have saved a ton of embarrassment by never charging out on the court in the first place. But pressure stepped in the way and thery were challenged by a neighboring group waiting for the opportunity to show-off their skills. Cleary was all for it.

Victoria Station, the restaurant chain, has a gym at its corporate headquarters in San Francisco. Out of it come some fine natural shooters. So, hoping to show-off their skills some Victoria gals mustered a team together and threw a challenge toward KNBR. The teams played each other during halftime at a recently played Raider - 49er basketball tilt and Cleary's Angels saw a long season ahead as the final horn sounded. But everyone was smiling when March of Dimes had reaped plenty from the heavy turnout.

Friday the team travels to Napa to play Wanda Lust (it sounds awfully inside, but it's all in KNBR character) and her foursome in a benefit for the State Hospital while an encounter with KTVU is in the scheduling stages.

Cleary, the irascible owner, who calls himself a temperamental hard to get a hold of owner, can be found cornered in the doorway or high in the bleachers whenever his Angels put their act on the court.

"I coached them for a while and they said they'd mutiny and never play again until I got them a coach."

So, he did — three in fact — and because of it, Cleary's Angels are doing their best to upstage Clarley's every night of the week.

'Stangs hold off Matadors, 8-7

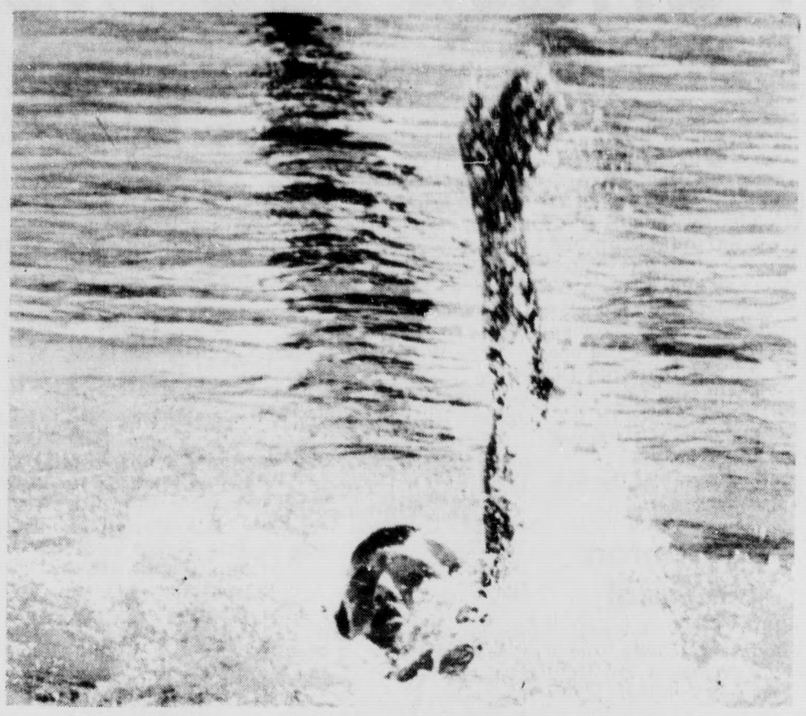
Despite a grand - slam home run by Lynn Bousilman the Granada High softball team fell to Monte Vista 8-7 in an East Bay Athletic League game yesterday in Danville.

A quick double - play from shortstop Terry Miller to second baseman Margeret Hinsch and first baseman Gina Belforte in the seventh inning ended a Granada threat.

Bettie Vierra added two hits to the Mats' attack. Belforte led the winners with two RBI's

In EBAL action Tuesday Jayne Kuhns belted a bases - loaded double to give Amador Valley a 20-18 win over Dublin and California drubbed San Ramon 10-1.

AV tops Pokes, nears title



Bill Burns of Amador Valley blazes in the 200 individual medley.

Amador Valley High's powerful swimming team cinched a tie for the East Bay Athletic League dual-meet championship with a 91-81 win over host Livermore yesterday.

The win gives the Dons a 5-0 mark in EBAL action compared to Livermore 4-1 record and San Ramon's 3-1, which pasted Monte Vista 110-55 in Danville.

Amador's junior varsity also remained unbeaten, taking a 121-27 win over the Pokes.

"The meet went about the way we figured it would," admitted a happy Don coach Chuck Volonte. "We figured we had the strength and depth to do it. We won both relays and we did well in the distance races and that did it."

There were many heroes for the Dons but All-American Brian Story was the big point - getter. He swam on both relay teams and won the 100-meter breaststroke in 1:11.6.

Mark Allen also swam on both relay teams for the Dons. Allen managed a second in the 50-meter freestyle.

Dan Knauer won the 200-freestyle and 500-freestyle for Amador while Bill Burns won the 100-meter freestyle, was second in the 200-meter I.M. and swam on the freestyle relay team.

Paul Lohmann was the star for Livermore, taking firsts in the 100-meter backstroke (1:05.3) and the 100-meter butterfly (1:03.3).

The Cowboys also swept the diving competition for some big points but Story's win in the 100-meter breastroke and the following Don victory in the freestyle relay cinched the win for Amador Valley.

San Ramon was paced by brillant Davitt Cunningham in its win over Monte Vista.

Cunningham won the 100-yard breaststroke in 1:09.4 and the 200-yard individual medley in 2:03.5. He also swam a strong leg on the 400-yard freestyle relay which won in 3:40.0.

The San Ramon junior varsity also won, taking a forfeit victory.

Amador Valley and San Ramon will meet next week in the Dons' final meet. If the Dons win they are the league dual-meet champions. If San Ramon beats the Dons and wins the next week it ties the Dons for the crown. If Livermore wins its final meet along with an Amador loss the Pokes gain a share of the title.

Oakland faces tough schedule

OAKLAND — The Oakland Raiders face three of professional football's perennial playoff powers as part of a challenging 1977 league schedule. The Pittsburgh Steelers, winners of the AFC Central Division hampionship and the Los Angeles Rams, NFC Western Division champions, will both host the Raiders this season while the Minnesota Vikings, defending champions of the National Football Conference, will battle the Raiders in an Oakland Coliseum clash.

The Raiders, (13-1 in 1976 league play, 16-1 including post - season games) will begin the defense of their world championship at home on Sunday, Sept. 18, against the San Diego Chargers, before traveling cross - country to take on the Steelers, (10-4 in 1976) in Pittsburgh, Sunday, Sept. 25.

Next, Oakland will play the first of two nationally televised Monday night games, this one in hostile Kansas City Oct. 3, then with only a short week of preparation complete the difficult three week road trip against the Cleveland Browns, (9-5 in 1976), AFC Central Division contenders.

The Raiders go against their AFC Western Division challengers, the Denver Broncos, twice in three weeks. The Broncos, (9-5 in '76) invade the Oakland Coliseum on Sunday, Oct. 16, then reverse sites to host the Silver and Black in Denver on Sunday, Oct. 30. In between these two divisional battles, the Raiders will again cross the country, this time facing the Jets in New York City for the first time in league play since 1970, on Sunday, Oct. 23.

The second half of the schedule begins with the Raiders at home two weeks in a row, hosting the Seattle Seahawks (Sunday, Nov. 6) and Houston Oilers (Sunday, Nov. 13), before traveling to San Diego for a rematch against the Chargers (Sunday, Nov. 20).

O.J. Simpson, leading rusher in pro football will top Buffalo's Bill at the Oakland Coliseum Monday Nov. 28. The Raiders then travel to Southern California for a first - ever league game appearance in Los Angeles against the Rams, (10-3-1 in 1976), on Sunday, Dec. 4.

Oakland returns home to take on the four - time NFC Champion Minnesota Vikings, (11-2-1 in '76), Sunday, Dec. 11, in a rematch of Super Bowl 1.

'Poke athletes nominated

Rae Ann MacInnes of Clayton Valley won the Contra Costa Flecto Prep of the week award and San Leandro first baseman Gordy Holt took Alameda County honors.

Two Livermore High athletes, pole vaulter Mike Draper and third baseman M Dave Dearborn, were nominated for the Alameda County honors.

MacInnes hurled 10 innings of no-hit ball for the Eagles' softball team last week. She combined with Kelly Ruiz to throw a no-hitter (16-0) against Pittsburg, then came back and went the distance, tossing a no-hit gem against Ygnacio, 9-1.

It was her second no-hitter of the year. CV is tied for first place. She went 3-for-7 in the two games at the plate and shows a .682 overall averae on the year.

Holt, 6-4, 190 pounds hit two 400-foot home runs in the Pirates' 6-4 win over Alameda last week. He was tossed into the line-up as a substitute because the regular first baseman was out of town. Both of the home runs were into a head wind.

Draper cleared 13-2¾ in the pole vault, second best in the East Bay Athletic League this season. Dearborn made a triple play, catching a liner, stepping on third and throwing to first for the final out.

Brewer's sensational 709 leads kegs

John Brewer, the valley's seventeen year old bowling sensation, took his 170 average into last Friday's Junior Adult league and came away with an outstanding 709 series at Granada Bowl in Livermore.

The fine trio of games started with a 209 and Brewer was very hot from there on. In the second game, Brewer rolled a fine 244 and he capped the series with a torrid 256. Brewer's 709 tops his mark of 689 just a week earlier.

Merv Perry nearly completed a rare feat in the Hawaiian league. Perry started his 671 series with a 224 game and did the same in the second game. In game three, he fell off a bit, though, scoring 223.

The Early Owls saw good scores as Jeanne Leone, 119 average, bowled her season high, 201, en route to a 532 series. After an opening game 165, Phil Ruppell caught fire and closed out the series with games of 235 and 245 for a 645 series. Also, Charles Graham had a 236 high game and 626 series in Friday night play.

Topping the Daytime Savings Bond league was Marge Schmitz, who posted a 208 game and 501 series. A 234 game by Fred Malsom led the night time Bond league, but it was the lower average bowlers who really stood out. Roxanne Davis, 99 average, had games of 186, 140, 178 for a 504 series and Alice Smith, who averages 101, had a 423 set on games of 134, 148 and 141.

Summer leagues are now forming with the new discount daytime league to be held on Tuesdays at 9:30 a.m. The new Monte Carlo mixed league will be available on Tuesdays at 9 p.m. and Thursdays at 6:30 p.m. This league features league competition and on the spot cash payoffs. Free babysitting for all leagues and free coffee for the day leagues are available.

Lee Hall continues his reign in the Pinscramblers Mixed, posting a 244 game and 618 series. Terry Zearing, possessor of a 98 average, bowled an incredible 220 game and 511 series.

Ref golf

The Contra Costa Football Officials Annual Golf Fling will take place at San Ramon National Golf Course Saturday, May 7 with proceeds going toward cash scholarships for prep athletes.

The $19 fee includes golf, cart, and a buffet dinner and numerous pro and collegiate coaches and players are expected to particpate in the 11 a.m. start.

Cash scholarships will be awarded to athletes from the four leagues which the Contra Costa officials service — the Catholic Athletic League, East Bay Athletic League, Foothill Athletic League and the Diablo Valley Athletic League.

There are 72 openings to be filled for the tourney and reservations or information may be obtained by calling either Wayne Crow (846-6056) or Hal Whitaker (828-7944).

Glads bombed

Rob Jessen cracked a two-run homer and Frank Knox had three hits, but it wasn't enough for the Chabot College baseball team, which gave up 11 runs in the first inning to fall, 18-6, to San Jose Tuesday in Hayward.

The loss dropped the Glads record to 10-8 with a pair of un - played - off ties and slid them into a games - behind tie for fourth with West Valley with four games remaining.

If the Glads, who travel to Cupertino to play DeAnza Saturday at 11 a.m., finished the season still tied for the final Golden Gate Conference play-off berth with the Vikings, they would advance as Chabot bested WVC, two games to one during the year.

Dr. Joyce Brothers

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: I'm irritated, hurt and confused because my girl friend and I went to a well - known plastic surgeon to have some basic, and much needed improvements. We're at that age when everything's going wrong. I felt a face life would change my whole life and bring me some of the things I've always wanted. So, I was disappointed when the doctor took my friend, but is reluctant to take me as a patient. My husband says the doctor will, with a little prodding, but why should I prod when we're ready, willing and able to pay? The surgeon expressed doubts about my being happy with the face lift. He said it had nothing to do with my bone structure, or that I'd waited too long. What should I do? — B.K.

DEAR B.K.: Ask the surgeon why he feels you'll be dissatisfied with his work. He may feel that your expectations are unreasonable and he may fear legal trouble if you're not pleased.

I believe you should analyze just how many of your life problems you're blaming on your appearance. Some people project all their emotional and social problems onto their faces and they try to solve these problems from the outside in, rather than searching for the real roots of their misery.

Habits of behavior cannot be repaired or changed as easily as a nose or a sagging jaw line. Some very responsible plastic surgeons refuse to remake a face until the person has had some psychiatric counseling.

I think you should realize that a face lift is not apt "to change your whole life." That may be asking too much.

DEAR DR. BROTHERS: My husband and I enjoy traveling and we almost always fly. This is sheer agony for me and all the rational arguments in the world don't seem to make it easier for me. I truly believe that if I could understand why I'm afraid, I might be able to get over the fear. I've heard a lot of theories but I'd like to hear yours. I feel it might help me. Also, do you think hypnotism can help me overcome my anxiety about planes? — L.B.

DEAR L.B.: Let me answer the last question first. I definitely think hypnotism can help you conquer this fear. Along with this, however, I agree that it's important that you understand and analyze the real basis of your fear. If you don't, the hypnosis may rid you of the fear of planes but another may crop up in its place.

Fear of flying is really a fear of losing control, of putting yourself totally in the hands of another person. This is usually deep rooted and can be traced back to early childhood.

As psychoanalyst Erik Erikson has pointed out, the infant's first social achievement is a willingness to trust others, to let his or her mother out of sight. Some children learn from experience that they can't trust others, but must stay in control of themselves if they are to survive.

A hynotist can, incidentally, through the power of suggestion encourage you to trust and put more faith in others. This will help you in many areas of your life. Many men and women find their sex life improves enormously once they've learned the magic lesson of trust.

Hundreds of years ago in the American southwest the Pueblo Indians built homes with sun-baked bricks called adobe.

To make adobe, the Indians mixed sandy clay with water and a small amount of straw or grass and trampled the mixture with the bare feet to mix it.

The adobe was then shaped into flat bricks and allowed to dry in the hot desert sun for at least two weeks.

The straw helped to prevent shrinkage cracks and held the brick together as it dried.

The adobe bricks were laid in mortar made of the same material, then usually finished with a coat of adobe.

Many people in Mexico today live in sun-dried brick houses, as well as Pueblo Indians and people in many other warm parts of the world where there is a scarcity of wood.

The thick adobe walls keep them cool and are well-suited for the dry climate, where there is little rain to crumble the adobe bricks.

Dr. Lamb

DEAR DR. LAMB — Please tell me the difference between hypoglycemia and hyperinsulinism. For several years I had spells of passing out and was out for three hours one day and taken to the hospital.

After a lot of tests my blood sugar was down to 40. I am on a high protein, no sugar, low carbohydrate diet and am okay as long as I stay on it. My doctor told me and put on all my papers that I had hyperinsulinism but someone else said it was just hypoglycemia.

DEAR READER — If that someone else had your problem he might not think it was just hypoglycemia.

Hypoglycemia (low blood sugar) can be caused by many factors. Liver disease is one cause. A rebound type of reaction that occurs from rapid emptying of the stomach is another cause, as may occur after a stomach operation. It can occur after drinking too much alcohol or from a variety of complex enzyme disturbances. It can also occur because of disease of the adrenal glands. Low blood sugar is a symptom not a diagnosis.

One of the causes of hypoglycemia is an overproduction of insulin. The abnormality and hence the diagnosis then is hyperinsulinism and it causes hypoglycemia. The excess insulin production lowers the blood sugar. So hyperinsulinism can cause hypoglycemia but not all cases of hypoglycemia are caused by hyperinsulinism. Regardless of the cause, a severe case of true hypoglycemia that causes the problems you describe can be an important medical problem.

DEAR DR. LAMB — In accordance with your Health Letter on exercise I started my exercise by walking. At first I walked slowly and gradually increased speed and distance. I am now walking five miles in 75 minutes each day. I just noticed that about the center of my right calf a half inch bubble bulged out. It looks like a varicose vein. It disappears when I elevate the leg.

I am neither obese nor pregnant nor do I think that I have an abdominal tumor. What do I do now; decrease my walking, slow it up, stop it altogether or use an elastic bandage and keep on walking as I am doing now?

DEAR READER — That bubble which disappears when you elevate the leg is a varicose vein. Such spots are usually where a vein connects the superficial veins you can see to the deep veins inside the leg muscles. They can become over-distended into a varicosity also and sometimes are called "blow-outs."

Your walking did not cause the blow-out. The muscular contractions from walking milks the blood out of the deep veins and empties them as well as the connecting branches. Standing still would allow pressure to develop and could aggravate varicose vien problems.

For Thursday, April 28, 1977

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) Pleasurable pursuits that are expensive are likely to disappoint you today. Inexpensive activities will prove the most fun.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) Put the needs of those you care for above your own today. Your rewards lie in charity to others.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) It can be a very good day if you stifle the urge to engage in one-upsmanship with your pals.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) If there's a business situation to be attended to today, try to complete it in the proper surroundings, not over lunch or dinner.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) Follow your logical instincts today. Avoid a tendency to give a statement or claim more credence than it deserves.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23) Gains are likely today through more than one source. However, if you build your hopes too high, you could be let down a bit.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 22) Someone may bring up what they tout as a really big deal in a gabfest with friends today. Don't jump in before investigating.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 23-Dec. 21) Second thoughts are essential before making any major decisions today. You'll see angles you have overlooked.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) It would be best today not to mix social acquaintances with work associates. Someone could feel like a fish out of water.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 19) You may feel the inclination to take a calculated risk today. If so, at least modify your financial investment.

PISCES (Feb. 20-March 20) Go to the people you're sure have the facts today, not to one who is a good conversationalist, but no expert.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) Early in the day your mind will not be attuned to your responsibilities. Later you'll recover any lost ground.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

North and South really staggered into six hearts. Not that their bidding was bad, but rather that they almost stopped several times along the way.

While they were moving slowly on, West was doing some thinking of his own and came to the conclusion that if they did bid a slam his best chance to beat the contract would be to lead his deuce of diamonds in the hope that he might cause South to refuse a diamond finesse that he would take later.

So, as soon as the bidding ended, West led his deuce of diamonds.There was no diamond finesse, but the lead did cause South to go wrong another way.

South went up with dummy's ace, led a spade, finessed the queen, cashed the ace, ruffed his last spade, cashed dummy's ace of trumps and was faced with the problem of getting back to his hand. He had to ruff a diamond.

He should have ruffed low. A 5-1 diamond break was less likely than a 4-1 trump break, but he did ruff high. This established West's 10 as a defensive trick and there was no way to pick up East's queen of clubs.

Ask the Jacobys

A Kansas reader asks if we open the bidding in first seat with:

♠ A x x x ♥ Q J x ♦ K Q x ♣ J x x.

The answer is that this is one 13 high-card point hand that we pass in any seat. An opening bid is too likely to lead to a minus score.

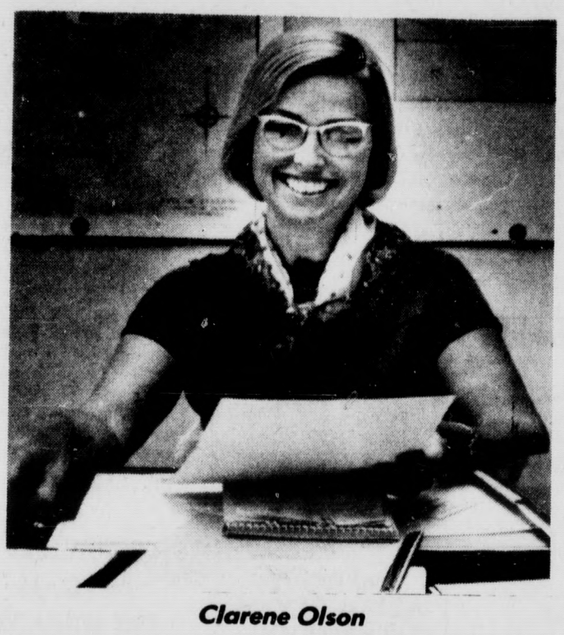
Student job center set for May opening

LIVERMORE — The Livermore Unified School District's unique career placement office is about to open for its second season.

Federally funded, the service is being run part - time this year by Clarene Olson, a teacher and 16 - year resident of Livermore. She has been a kindergarten teacher and an elementary - school substitute teacher in the district and is known in the Valley for her activities with the American Association of University Women, Cultural Arts Council, Early Childhood Education steering committee and other key projects.



Clarene Olson

The placement service aims to find permanent full - time jobs for about 200 students who will graduate in June with vocational training. Mrs. Olson's job will be to go through student application forms (which will be available at Granada and Livermore High career centers next week), interview students and determine which types of jobs would suit them.

On May 9, she plans to mail out letters to some 400 businesses, announcing the service and soliciting jobs for the students. She will also be making personal contact with prospective employers.

"First priority is full - time placement of vocational education students in entry - level jobs," Clarene explains. "If I have time, I will be helping Del Valle Continuation School graduates, but the program was written primarily for Granada and Livermore High students."

The placement service officially opens May 2 and ends June 30, two weeks after graduation day. Beginning May 9, Mrs. Olson plans to work in the Livermore High career placement office on Tuesday and Thursday mornings and at Granada High Mondays and Wednesdays. Her "home base" phone number at the Livermore Unified School District office will be 447 - 9500, extension 285.

Although last year's version of the placement program uncovered few jobs for local graduates, the placement officer did succeed in setting up a working program including the appropriate lists and forms, according to Mrs. Olson.

What the program offers employers, she says, is referrals of students who are already screened, so personnel offices don't have to waste their time weeding out unqualified applicants. "I would think they'd be delighted," she says.

According to vocational education director Fred Sherwyn, jobs will be sought in the areas of accounting and computing, agriculture production and mechanics, auto mechanics, carpentry, clerical and stenographic work, electronics, food preparation and service, graphic arts, millwork and cabinetmaking, ornamental horticulture, surveying and wildlife management.

Nearly-new-sale at Arroyo Mocho

LIVERMORE — Bargains galore will be for sale at Arroyo Mocho Elementary School's "nearly new sale" Saturday, May 7.

The school's TEAM parent - teacher organization is sponsoring the event, 9 a.m. - 3 p.m. in the school parking lot. Proceeds will buy new playground equipment for the school.

SRV trustees give light to new schools' concept

DANVILLE— The preliminary plans for the Montevideo Elementary School and a continuation high school in San Ramon have been approved by San Ramon Valley Unified School District trustees.

Architect Cvan Tatarian, following a lengthy presentation at Monday night's school board meeting, was authorized to proceed with working plans and specifications.

Both are planned to open in the fall of 1978, the K-6 school to be modular in construction and serve the south - central area of the San Ramon district.

Monies from the sale of the Tibros and Sycamore school sites, and what developers monies the district has would go to finance Montevideo construction.

The lease purchase bond scheduled for the May 31 ballot provides for not only the elementary and continuation schools, but seven other new schools or additions.

The $17.7 million measure includes completion of California High School, completion of Monte Vista in Alamo, renovation of the existing Stone Valley 2-8 school, a permanent elementary Twin Creeks school, a new intermediate school on Brookside Drive in Danville, a new core elementary school on Camino Tassajara Road a half-mile east of Blackhawk Road, and a similar school within a quarter mile of the intersection of Bollinger Canyon Road and Alcosta Boulevard in San Ramon.

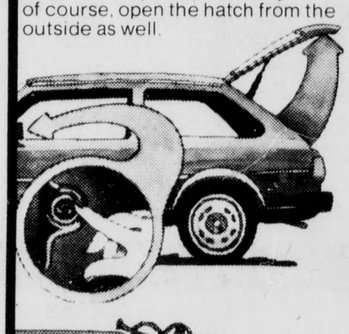
Honda Eat Your Heart Out

INTRODUCING MAZDA'S GLC
THE INCREDIBLE HONDA KILLER

See what makes Mazda's GLC a Great Little Car

Imagine. An electrically operated hatch that unlatches automatically just by pushing a button below the dashboard! It's something no other car in America offers—at any price. You may, of course, open the hatch from the outside as well.



Try to find another car at this price with a rear window wiper and washer, and a rear window defroster, as standard equipment.

GLC has a rear seat that splits in half. No other car in GLC's class offers that. It means you can haul around people and cargo and packages. Or that you can fold both seats flat for a big, wide fully carpeted deck.

42 mpg highway.
32 mpg city.* Naturally, these are EPA estimates, and they're based on the optional 5-speed transmission. Your mileage may vary depending on how and where you drive, your car's condition, and optional equipment.

All these features standard on Deluxe GLC shown here

Tired of waiting? Being put on a waiting list for a Honda may be the biggest break of your life!
SPECIAL SALE THIS WEEKEND!

Crime's forgotten victims draw governor

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Edmund G. Brown, Jr., making an unscheduled appearance Wednesday before a conference devoted to California's Forgotten Victims Week, laid out an eight-point legislative program that calls for reform of probation subsidies and support of Assemblyman Dan Boatwright's determinate sentence legislation.

Announcement of Brown's pre-noon message swelled the audience at a panel discussion on crime and rest homes from a modest 70 or so to more than 200.

His eight-point legislative proposal also succeeded in taking the spotlight from a discussion of rest home abuses chaired by John Van de Kamp, district attorney for Los Angeles County. Van de Kamp was joined on the panel by L.A. county staff aides Aileen Adams and Edward Feldman, San Diego County prosecutor James Lorenz and Raymond Procunier, the embattled former director of the Adult Authority and now chief deputy director of the state Department of Health.

Brown's proposal included:

— Reforming of the probation subsidy program by channeling funds to county boards of supervisors for allocation to local programs and agencies.

— Mandatory prison sentences for conviction of a felony while on parole.

— Support of the Boatwright bill, the Determinate Sentence Law.

— Support of legislation that would eliminate the process of postconviction bail.

— Authorization of state personnel to work with local district attorneys on white collar crime.

— Limitation on motions to suppress evidence. "Lets permit one such action and limit at that," Brown said.

— Support for Assemblyman Cordova's bill, AB 513, limiting the number of continuances.

— Encourage judges to require restitution by criminals to victims, emphasizing direct restitution. by Al Fischer
